AVID INTRODUCE NEW PELLERE PHONO STAGE

Building on the success of its electronics range, AVID now launches an additional phonostage.

PELLERE bridges the gap between the Pulsare and Pulsus and offers a new level of performance at this competitive market price.

Employing the same internal high specification components, the PELLERE utilises the design of the Pulsare, being fully balanced and offering both RCA and XLR connections.

The same loading options as the Pulsare are offered using external DIP switches similar to the Pulsus, conveniently located on the underside of the casework. Similar to the Pulsare an external high performance regulated power supply is used.

In keeping with all our electronic products, PELLERE is finished in the same high quality distinctive casework with all manufacturing and testing done within our factory based near Huntingdon, England.

The PELLERE is available now with a UK retail price of £2,500 and builds upon a highly award winning product line that just gets better and better...
